

Vale: Ken WELLS

19?? - 2019

TFA would like to pay our respects to the Australian Touch Association (ATA's) longest serving president, who passed away this week. He held the position from 1984 to 1990, including during the period when the Federation of International Touch was founded in 1985.

Ken helped initiate the first recognised international game of touch, a Test series between Australia and New Zealand, and the first ever mixed competition was introduced in 1985 under his leadership. Ken also started the process of the ATA obtaining the building that TFA still owns and occupies in Canberra. We are grateful to Ken for his service to the sport and wish his family our condolences during this difficult time.
