

ENGLAND

INTERNATIONAL

RESULTS

England had a slow and tremulous beginning as it was driven by one man Mark Wilkes who at the time was the President of both the English and Great Britain Touch Associations.. He travelled the country developing pockets of Touch into organised competitions and setting up infrastructures, referee and coaching clinics.

On the 18th March 1995 England became the 13th member of the Federation of International Touch

Like most critics, they never have all the facts, and his were less informed than others. Affiliation fees were used to fund his travel and accommodation but few knew he personally went broke whilst in the performance of these Touch "duties"

This included part-funding Tours for representative teams to Japan and Junior teams to Australia. In the end he left the country with large groups of players enjoying touch in a mostly unorganised fashion.

New Committees were formed to look after the affairs of Touch England but members came and went. Finally Glen Whu took a commercial approach to Touch in England and reformed the Committee in 1999. Touch was back on track.

In 2006 Craig Irwin applied for Technical Assistance from the Federation particularly for referee coaching. The stability of Touch in England was landmarked by the longevity of Committee Members Jeremy How, Michael Abromowitz, Steve Melling, Tom Bedkowski, Greg Binning and Chris Wheeler.

In 2009, the association took on Gregg Cropper as President, and a further and accelerated transformation took England Touch to the next level.

A much more professional outlook begun, more aligned with major National Governing Bodies with strategy and growth at the heart of his plans.

Over the following 10 years, under Cropper's leadership and tireless efforts, England Touch has become the leading nation in Europe and a Tier One nation on the global stage. A membership system was created and implemented, along with a tiered event series, giving England a sustainable revenue to reinvest into the sport.
